Hey there!

Welcome to Soul Focus Photography, where I transform moments into lifelong memories.

My name is Sarah and I am all about real people, natural beauty and capturing authentic moments!

Working with me is easy, fun, organic and incredibly simple - which means stress free for you! You can trust in me. I'll check in regularly, be there to laugh and cry with you and gently guide you every step of the way.

I focus on capturing real moments in a relaxed, unobtrusive way - just letting things flow naturally without getting in the way of the vibe.

What makes me different isn't just my light, natural and happy style of photography, but the friendships I build with my clients. I really believe in working together to understand your vision, so the photos we create feel like you - genuine, personal, and exactly what you're looking for.

Whether you're looking to capture some sweet moments with your family, a fun session with your partner, or a beautiful engagement shoot, I'm here to help you preserve those special memories. I love taking natural, candid photos that really show who you are and tell your unique story.

My approach to event photography is a little different to others. I find clients often value my discreet and documentary approach which deviates from the conventional style often associated with event photography.
